Aside from hiking and biking, travelling by train is by far the most sustainable way to get around Switzerland. Our railways contribute only 0.2% to the total CO_2 emissions of overall traffic.

more elbow room

Start your journey already in relaxation mode: with ample elbow room, many catering facilities and a wide range of onboard services.

no stopovers

Whether from Prague, Budapest, Graz, Paris, Venice or Hamburg: The railway brings you directly to the Swiss hotspots.

more time

Exploring by train, bus, boat or other public transportation gives you ample time to enjoy every moment to the fullest and reflect on your experiences. All while protecting the beautiful nature you are travelling through.

a green conscience

Exploring Switzerland might well be one of those experiences you'll tell your grandkids about. Doing so sustainably by public transport helps protect our nature so they can come and see for themselves.
